PHYSICIANS TALK HOSPITAL.

MEETING HELD LAST NIGHT IN THE S. L. AND T. BUILDING.

A Majority of the Doctors of the Town Present—Proposition Enthusiastically Endorsed—A Possible Location.

Mention was made in Monday's Telegram of the proposition made last week by a society in the North, looking towards the erection and equipment of a hospital in this city. The physicians of the city met last night in Dr. Beall's office in the Southern Loan & Trust Company building for the purpose of discussing the matter in all its details. This meeting was attended by a majority of the physicians of Greensboro, and they enthusiastically endorsed the proposition, and will make all efforts necessary to secure the hospital.

While no definite location has beeen secured, it is likely that a lot on the street immediately in the rear of the Episcopal church will be selected. The only feature of this location is the fact that sewerage does not extend that far out. Otherwise the lot is very desirable.

NO PLACE DECIDED UPON

Not Yet Known Where the Next Meeting of the Press Association Will be Held.

The Executive Committee of the State Press Association at their meeting yesterday afternoon decided to wait a week before making a selection of the place at which the Press Association will hold its next meeting.

This action was taken in order that the committee might hear from another city, as it is probable that they will receive another invitation, and so they will wait a week before deciding the matter.

No further meeting of the Executive Committe will be held as the meeting place can be decided by correspondence.

a Correction.

An error existed in the statement of the salary of the superintendent of health in yesterday's Telegram, and it is reproduced today, corrected.

Upon motion of Dr. Beall, Dr. Edmund Harrison was elected superintendent of health of Guilford Couty for the next two years.

The salary of said superintendent of health was fixed at $200 per annum. This amount to include attendance upon the inmates of the county jail and on the inmates of the county home. That for attending prisoners at the convict camps which may be located within 3 miles of the city of Greensboro he shall receive $1.50 per visit.

A special contract is to be made with him in case of an epidemic of small pox or other disease.

NEW LUMBER COMPANY.

Several Greensboro Gentlemen Take Stock—Officers Elected

An organization to be known as the Cook Lumber Company, was formed in this city yesterday afternoon. The meeting was held in the Southern Loan & Turst Company building. The capital stock of the company is $100,000.

The following officerswere elected at the meeting: President, E. P. Wharton; vice-president, J. W. Cook, of Burlington; Secretary and Treasurer, C. G. Moffit, Sanford.

Directors: W. D. Mendenhall, E. P. Wharton, J. W. Cook, Burlington; A. J. Jones, Sanford; W. P. Moffit, Sanford; and W. T. Franklin, Sanford.

A large tract of land has been purchased in Florida, but the Company has not yet decided whether they will engage in the lumber business or sell the land as it is. It was bought under an option given last December, and since that time property has advanced in value, and a neat sum could be realized by selling the land as it is. The company will meet on the fifteenth of the month in the Southern Loan & Trust Company building, and will decide the matter.

Sold for $3,000,000.

Richmond, Va., May 6.—The Richmond Locomotive Works, of which Joseph Bryan is president, were sold today for $3,000,000. This deal has been pending for some time. Mr. Leitis came here about a month a go and inspected the plant. The Richmond Locomotive Works belonged to a company, 20 per cent of the stock of which was owned by Joseph Bryan and the Stewart estate, of which he is the representative. With one or two execptions it is the largest establishment of the kind in the country. About 1,600 men are employed.

Incidents of a Great Fire.

Jacksonville Sunday Times-Union.

Saving Their Sewing Machine.

A citizen rushed down a street upon which a canopy of flames was rushing with a roar, in his hand a few valued articles taken from hs home. In front of him limped an aged couple, who pushed a sewing machine.

"You must hurry or you will be caught," said he.

"We cannot leave the machine," wailed the old woman; "it is our sole support."

Without a word the gentleman dropped his burden, shouldered the machine and walked before the couple to the dock, where he placed the three safely on board a vessel.

"Let Me Go With It!"

From a flaming house bedding and furniture were borne by willing hands and piled on the side walk. But no wagon could be secured, and soon it was too hot for human flesh to endure. "We must leave it," said the rescuers. Then an aged woman threw herself on the heap. 'Let me go with it," she sobbed: "it is all I have.'

Sharing With Others.

In front of every restaurant or corner stand where food was offered there were long lines of the hungry who had money and pitiful by standers who had none. But each who obtained something shared with those outside the line—not an exception was noted.

Negroes Wild for Food.

The demon selfishness and ignorance showed itself but once, so far as could be seen or heard of, and this happened in East Jacksonville, where several negroes attacked a man with a wagon of provisions and stole a barrel of flour from the wagon. There was a struggle, and the man presented a revolver at the negroes, announcing his intention to kill the whole outfit unless they relinquished the flour. The negroes were told that there was a relief bureau down town and were finally appeased. They said they had been to the stores in the neighborhood and were refused food and that they were starving.

Mr. Hamilton Wright Mabie is recognized as one of the most distinguished literary men in the country. At a recent meeting in New York city a company of the most distinguished men in this country met "to testify in an appropriate manner their appreciation of his services and success in literature," of which the most recent incidents have been the publication of his work on Shakespeare and his appointment to the Turnbull Lectureship at Johns Hopkins University. Mr. Mabie is a most charming speaker and his visit is looked forward to with much pleasure. This is his first visit to North Carolina.

The Alumi Association is fortunate in securing Dr. Dred Peacock to deliver the annual address before the association. The Alumni Association will hold its regular meeting at the conclusion of President Peacock's address. This meeting will be presided over by Lieutenant Governor W. D. Turner, who is president of the association.

MAKING OF A MILLIONAIRE.

HOW IT IS DONE AT THE CARNEGIE STEEL WORKS

Cool Appearance of a Mechanic Suddenly Transformed into a Millionaire.

In the current issue of the Saturday Evening Post Paul Latzke, in an article entitled "Carnegie's Thirty Young Partners," gives some interesting facts about the system of promotion by which special merit was recognized in the management of the great steel works. "It was my privilege," he says, "to be in the office of the Carnegie Steel Company at Pitsburg when there occurred an event that to my mind has rarely been equalled for dramatic interest. It was the making of a millionaire.

A plain, undersized young man, bearing about him all the earmarks of a hard-working mechanic, came into the outer office where I was seated. His shoes were heavy and covered with dust peculiar to the man who labors in iron works. He wore an old black derby hat. A heavy overcoat, much worse for wear, hung loosely from his shoulders. Below the overcoat there showed a pair of gray trousers innocent of the tailor's creasing iron and eloquent of long service in a mill atmosphere. He was, perhaps, 27 or 28 years old.

"'Mr. Schwab telegraphed for me,' he man said to an attendant.

"'Yes he is waiting for you inside.'

"The man diappearedthrough a door to the left, and as it closed behind him one of the officers of the company to whom I had been talking said:

"Did you notice that man? You did? Well, he went in there an ordinary mechanic, a foreman in one of our mills, working at a forman's wages. In about half an hour, if you remain, you will see him come outa partner in the Carnegie Company, with the income of a millionaire.'

"'But for a man who is about to step from a mechanic's position to that of a millionaire's he was about the most unconcerned person I ever saw.'

"'That was because he knew no more about it when he came in than you did. His first information will come when Mr. Schwab tells him what the company has concluded to do. He has been with the cocern about eight or nine years. Most of that time he has been employed as an electrician. He has made many valuable suggestions and his worth was recognized by his promotion to the position of foreman. He has some rare capacity in that position for haulding men; his, combined with his mechanical knowledge, has pointed to him as the proper man for taking hold of a new enterprise on which the company is about to embark.'

"Almost every one of the 30 brilliant young men who make up the Carnegie Company came into partnership under very much the same circumstances as was the case with this latest member. The stories of their successes read like chapters in continuous fairy tales. Mr. Schwab, who passed from the presidency of the Carnegie Company to the presidency of the billion-dollar concern, was a stake driver for a surveying party at 18 and general manager of the Homestead Steel Works at 23. He it was who really conceivedthe idea of the huge combination that has swallowed up nearly all the great steel-working properties of the company, resulting in the formation of the United States Steel Corporation." Fifteen years afo W. C. Corey, general superintendent of the Homestead Steel Works and a partner in the company, was a water boy, one one of the humblest places in the works. A. R. Peacock, the first vice president and general sales agent of the company, but 35 years old and worth from five to seven million dollars was 11 years a linen salesman in New York, with no knowledge of the steel business. He secured a clerkship in the sales department of the Carnegie Company and worked himself up to his present position. The same story of merit and promotion is repeated in the history of all the other partners.

Scrofula

Scrofula is an unwelcome legacy, but one which the children of blood poisoned parentage must accept, with all its humiliating consequences. It is an inheritance that makes one poorer; that brings wretchedness and disease instead of health and riches, for the child whose ancestral blood is tainted with Scrofula or the loathsome virus of Contagious Blood Poison is unfitted for the arduous duties of life so long as any of the transmitted poison remains in its veins. Scrofula manifests itself in various forms; swollen glands about the neck and throat, catarrh of the head, weak eyes, hip bone disease, white swelling and offensive sores and abscesses are familiar symptoms, attended usually with loss of strength, poor digestion and pale or bloodless complexion. The skin is sometimes most dreadfully affected, eruptions breaking out on all parts of the body. Scrofula destroys bone, tissue and flesh; no part of the human system escapes its withering, benumbing touch. Parents whose blood is poisoned by their own misdeeds, or who themselves may be suffering for the sins of some remote ancestor, must restore their own blood to its normal purity and strength, or they cannot expect healthy, robust children. S. S. S. cures Scrofula, like other diseases of a deep-seated, constitutional character, by restoring life and purity to the profoundly poisoned blood, and the rich, strong blood that is carried to the swollen and diseased glands absorbs and destroys the tuberculous deposits, and the painful, disfiguring sores and other evidences of Scrofula disappear.

When nineteen years old, and about one year after the birth of my first child, the glands on the left side of my neck began to swell. Four of the places were lanced and became open running sores; risings came under my left arm, and the discharge was simply awful. The doctors said I had the worst case of Scrofula they had ever seen. I took iodide of potassium, but this nor the other drugs given for this disease brought relief. When the physicians advised me to have the glands removed, I decided to try S. S. S. A few bottles cured me completely; no signs of the terrible disease are left.

MRS. RICHARD WASSON,

S. S. S. should be begun immediately upon the appearance of the first symptoms, or where there is a known predisposition to Scrofula. Should you or any member of your family need advice, our physicians will cheerfully give the information you desire, for which we make no charge. Book on Blood and Skin Diseases free.

WINE OF CARDUI

WOMEN WHO WORK.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 12.

Though only 19 years old, I suffered from pains and female troubles two years. Last spring I got so bad I had to quit work. I had to support myself, and could not afford a high-priced doctor. I got one bottle of Wine of Cardui and that made me feel better. Have now used several bottles and am well. My mother used the Wine for Change of Life and was greatly relieved.

MISS MARGARET WALSH.

McELREE'S Wine of Cardui

Many girls and women find it necessary to earn their own living in various kinds of employment. Their work is often so hard and confining that the health breaks down. Their delicate constitutions are unfitted for tiresome tasks. Weakness nearly always makes its appearance in the peculiarly delicate womanly organs. Constant standing on the feet, and coming and going at the beck of a superintendent or foreman, induces falling of the womb, leucorrhœa, headache and backache. The pay of women workers is often so notoriously small that when sickness comes they have no money to engage skillful physicians. To them Wine of Cardui is truly a blessing. It cures them of their ills at a small cost, and they can act as their own physicians. No doctor can do as much for "female troubles" as Wine of Cardui.

TUESDAY, MAY 8.

Our dear old friend, Uncle Billy Fay, of Osage City, Kansas, celebrated his 100th birthday a few days ago, and the Osage Free Press points out that a line of nineteen sucn men "would reach back in history to the time of Christ, and the sixth man in such a line would be found in the Garden of Eden making goo-goo eyes at the new woman."

The statistics bore is always with us. The other day the Atlanta Journal remarked that in the year 1628 one Peter Miner bought the island of Manhattan for $24 and that recently a small fraction of the same sold for $1,000,000, and a subscriber writes to say that Peter paid too much for the property, that he in fact displayed a poor business instinct, for had the seller invested this amount, loaned it out at eight per cent, compounded annually his heirs oday would have in their control the neat sum of $107,370,182,400

A POOR PROSPECT.

Mr. C. W. Deming, whom the Atlanta Journal describes as "the newspaper correspondent who reached Atlanta yesterday from Havana, Cuba, where she spent the winter months as manager of The Havana Post," is reported by the 'Journal as follows:

Havana Post is the only all American newspaper on the island of Cuba and naturally was regarded as the official organ of the military government and Governor General Wood's personal mouthpiece. As a matter of fact The Post is simply an up-to-date American newspaper carrying the foreign associated press and supported chiefly by Americans, any deficiency that might occur being made up out of the private purse of Senor J. N. Casanova, a noble-hearted, native-born Cuban who has the interests of his beloved country at heart and who established The Post at his own personal expense in order to instill in the minds of his fellow countrymen the benefits he believed would accure to Cuba by an American protectorate.

The Post is daily attacked by the 13 anti-administration dailies for its support of the government but Senor Casanova has stood by his convictions and is gradually winning every point he has so hotly fought for.

A strong advocate of the adoption of the Platt amandment, Senor Casanova has daily exposed through the columns of The Post the inconsistencies of those Cuban delegates who opposeed the amendment on the floor of the constitutional convention and so effective has been his daily satire, ridicule and argument of the cheap heroes of that convention that it has now become an acknowledged fact amongst the Cubans that the adoption o fthe Platt amendment is inevitable.

Gulaberto Gomez, the negro editor of Patriot, the most fluent writer of Spanish on the island and the most eloquent orator on the convention floor, has practically given up the fight against the Platt amendment and succumbed to the constant attacks made on his record by The Post.

Governor General Wood with his multudinous duties has gradually weakened the opposition and to my staff the majority of delegates to the convention have long since admitted that the believed the adoption of the Platt amendment was best for Cuba and they dared not accept it without a protest for fear of political oblivion when they again asked the suffrage of their people at the polls.

The junketing trip to Washington at the expense of the government was for the purpose of securing some excuse to present to their people for their adoption of the Platt amendment which they knew must inevitably come.

Maximo Gomez, the sly old warrior, has seen the coming of this adoption and has remained out of it all on the plea of sickness. General Wood was indomitable will and a persistency born of great mortal and physical courage has fought through every barrier of local personal and political arraingment and carried every point against scheming politicians who are endeavoring to once again secure control of the Cuban government. The rabble want to free Cuba while the conservative and business element literally pray for that the day be far distant when the American soldiers are withdrawn.

We admit that we have had a pretty poor opinion of the Cuban politicians, from Gomez down, but if this man is to be believed, Cuba is worse off than we supposed. Her prospects are pretty gloomy in anyway they may be looked at, if her future is to be in the hands of such men as these.

ANOTHER TRIUMPH.

Corn whiskey, even moonshine corn, has its friends. There are those who think it is the only salvation in times of snake bites, or other misfortunes that befall humanity. It has, however, been left to a Wake county man to shown that the article beats "doctor's medicine" when small pox abounds, which it often does these day. The News and Observer thus reports the words and experience of the discoverer:

"Thirteen of my family had smallpox in 1862. It was during the war. Ten took no doctor's medicine and all got well. Three took doctor's medicine and died."

So spoke Mr. J. C. Blake, of House's Creek township, Wake county, who was in Raleigh yesterday. He was thinking about smallpox because he says there is smallpox in 30 or 40 families in his section where there is smallpox. As he didin't seem to think that doctor's medicine would cure smallpox, I asked Mr. Blake what the ten members of his family took for smallpox when they had it in 1862. He said:

"I do not thing any more of smallpox than of measles and chicken pox All you have to do is to let 'em sweat it out. Now when I had it I didn't do anything at all except drink a quart or half gallon of whiskey a day. It cured me all right. Make me drunk? Oh, no, I just kept moving."

And then Mr. Blake grew reminiscentral. He said the first case of small pox he ever heard of was about sixty years ago. A negro named Bob Fenetter had it this side of Beaver Dam. "He died, said Mr. Blake, "and after he died they burned the house I don't know whether the negro was burned in it or not. At that time the doctors all said you could catch smallpox five miles in the air."

And thus does Mr. Blake raise more trouble for the good women of the W. C. T. U. By the way of giving them some help in meeting Mr. Blake's argument we might say that it is our own opinion that Mr. Blake has his figures right concerning the quantity he took it rather proves, but the vigor of his own constitution. A man who can stand smallpox and that much liquor at the same time, will never succumb to anything less violent than a meat axe.

The Ad Upon The Fence.

Aloysius Coll in The Inland Printer.

Jim Keeper was a man who had
More silver than good sense:
He wandered to the fields and put
His ad upon a fence.
"The neighborhood can read it here,
And pilgrims passing by,
And I will save the space-rates, too,"
He said, and winked his eye.

A cow came up and saw the sign,
And softly bawling "Mo",
She went off to her brother ox
And told him of it too.
And all the cattle came and looked
Upon the lonely sign,
And mooed: "Why, 'groceries and shoes'
Are not within our line."

The sheep came up, and bleated "Baa,"
Whenthey the sign had seen;
And, laughing at the lonely ad,
They gamboled down the green.
"Why, what are 'woolen goods' to us?"
They bleated in the fold;
"We haveenough to last for life,
To keep us from the cold."

The horses came and read the line
About the leather goods,
Then galloped off, and hid within
A little patch of woods.
"Harnes and saddles—cheapest, best;"
That's what the letters said;
"We wish they were in Halifax,"
The angry horses neighed.

Thus, while the animals discussed
Jim Keeper's rural sign,
The people in the papers read
Joe Seller's line for line.
And Sellers sold and richer grew,
Nor strange!—it came to pass
Where Keeper kept his store, the cows
Are nibbling at the grass!

Remarks may be pointed and yet blunt.

DR. SMITH'S BOOK.

A Brief Mention is Made of it By a Greensboro Gentleman.

Some months ago Dr. Smith preached two or three sermons on the Presbyterian creed with no view to publication, at the time, but at the earnest solicitation of many of his hearers, he was persuaded to publish them. As the work grew upon his hands he finally determined to publish the result of his studies and research in this direction in a more permanent form than that of a cheap pamphlet, as he first thought of doing. I am sure those who read this charming book will be glad he so determined.

It is a book of 250 pages printed on excellent paper, its typography leaving nothing to be desired, and the subject matter treated in a manner that cannot fail to be extremely interesting not only to Presbyterians but to those who hold a different creed. It is free from cant dogmatism and the faintest shadow of anything that could by any stretch of the imagination give offense to the most stalwart partisan of any other creed.

Within recent years Presbyterianism has been assailed in many of the secular papers with merciless abuse and most searching criticism.

The average layman has neither the time nor the facilities for investigating the truth or falsity of these charges. For those who have a "vague but wide-spread feeling of uneasiness and apprehension, as stated by Dr. Smith in the preface; this book was written "to answer their questions, fortify their faith and arm them with faith."

The subject is treated under the following heads:

1. The creed formulated.
2. The creed tested by its fruits.
3. The creed illustrated.
4. The creed Catholic.

It defines the creed, defends it from the assaults of flippant and superstitious criticis, and presents in a brief form its characteristics, history and sanction. In illustrating and fortifying his position Dr. Smith draws largely from some of the greatest historians, scholars, scientists and statesmen. Among the historians cited are such men as Bancroft, Buckle, Green, Fisk, Froude, Gibbon, Motley, Macauley, Ranke, Renana, Hume and Fairie, none of whom can be accussed of partiallity towards Calvinism, but were perhaps unwilliingly compelled to bear testimony to the glory of Calvinism.

I am afraid Mr. Smith is charageable wih just the faintest trace of theological malice in pulling on the witness stand Dr. A. C. Briggs who has recently gone over to another church.

Dr. Briggs testifies that "Presbyterianism has the true APOSTOLICAL SUCCESSION" (litalics mine) "in striving after the true apostolical faith in its purity, integrity and fulness." Whether Dr. Briggs still holds this opnion deponent saith not.

Of course nothing like a review of this book can be attempted in a newspaper article even if the writer were capable of writing it. His purpose is simply to call attention to this most charming, scholarly and and exceedingly interesting book—a book containing more interesting information in a comparatively small compass than can be found in any other single work, within the writers knowledge, treating of the same theme. A full meeting of chapter is earnestly requested.

AN IDIOT LOCKED UP.

Rode in a Carriage and Then Said He Had No Money.

Last night a white man got into a street carriage driven by a negro, and rode around the city in great shape. After driving him for a while the negro wanted his pay, when the white man said he had no money. Upon learning this fact, the negro drove the man to Officer Merritt, of the police force, and delivered him to the officer, who carried him to the lockup.

He gives his name as Jordan, and seems to be a born idiot. When asked where he lives he says "here," and also states that he never had a father or mother. At present he is residing in the county jail.

He has worked for Mr. Bob Rice, and that gentleman says he is all right except at certain times in the month when he gets a little "off."

FRILLS OF FASHION.

Some Hints About the Latest Coiffures and Up to Date Headwear.

The present fashion in coiffures seems to embrace every possible style of arranging the hair, and every sort of decoration which ingenuity can devise. The latest and most telling decoration that the mode has to offer is the large roses, one on each side of the knot as shown in the illustration. Each rose has a short stem and a few green leaves arranged to fall at the side and the whole effect is broad and rather low, like the hats this season. Smaller roses may be used, and only one if more becoming, but the really stunning thing is to have the two very large open roses, but such roses as they are! far more beautiful than anything we have ever had before in the way of artificial flowers, says the New York Sun.

Gold roses are the latest, but there are beautiful white, yellow and pink blooms that can put to shame anything nature ever produced. In a little store on Fifth avenue this variety in hair ornaments is shown in all its perfection, and the woman who can sport two of these gorgeous blossoms on the crown of her head with becoming effect may congratulate herself on her up to date appearance.

Various designs in gold effects are made for the hair, and tied prettily at one side with narrow black velvet ribbon. The tendency is toward more rather than less decoration, and for the flat, broad effects. The hair itself is of seemingly little importance in the evening coiffures except as it falls about the face, for the knot is almost hidden by the flowers. It is arranged high, low or medium, as may suit your head and the hat you wear, and you part the front at one side, wear it loosely so that there is only a suggestion of a parting in sight and arrange it to fall softly about the ears, puffing it out well from the face.

The high, evenly rounded pompadour has had its day, and much softer effects about the face are sought after. In other words, the hair must fall on the forehead in some becoming manner if you would be up to date. The style of the millinery suggests the outline for the hair and the new broad hats cannot be becoming if this point is not considered.

The Jospehine knot high on the head is one well favored style, but unlike Josephine's coiffure the locks are waved deeply about the face and dressed in the approved modern fashion. One large rose directly in front of the knot with a few leaves falling at one side is effective, but this style of hairdressing is best suited to the empire gown. A new fancy for keeping the hair in place at the back is to wear two brooches, one directly above the other, and much larger than the lower one.

No gloves and many rings seem to be the fashion among some women at the theater, but you will notice if they are swell that the sleeves are very long, extending well over the hand and quite transparent.

For dressy occasions and evening wear especially there is an endless variety of lace hats made over white chiffon and trimmed with a knot of colored velvet, plumes or feathers. Cream lace run with gold thread, and all gold lace are used for the crown and brim, and again the soft brim is of lace over chiffon and the crown of plain or embroidered velvet in some light color. Outline is the telling point in a fashionable hat quite as much if not more than the trimming. Upstanding, flaunting trimmings are not the mode and some of the smartest hats are very simple except in the price, which seems to creep up a little higher each year.

FOR CHILDREN

Nothing, that comes in a bottle, is more important for children than Scott's emulsion of cod-liver oil. And "important" means that it keeps them in even health, on the highest plane of physical life.

"Do they live on it then?"

No; they don't touch it, except when they need it.

"When do they need it?"

Whenever they show, in whatever way, the least disturbance of even balance of health. It is not for acute diseases, with some exceptions; it is for a slight falling off from first-rate condition.

It is to be used as a food whenever their usual food does not quite answer the purpose of food.

We'll send you a little to try, if you like.

It had given such satisfactory results that the name was unanimously selected by the people for the new office and adopted by the department at Washington, D. C.

If people only knew what we know about Kodol Dyspepsia Cure, it would be used in nearly every household, as there are few people who do not suffer from a feeling of fullness after eating, belching, flatulence, sour stomach or waterbrash, caused by indigestion or dyspepsia. A preparation such as Kodol Dyspepsia Cure, which, with no aid from the stomach, will digest your food, certainly can't help but do you good.

COON COULDN'T HEAR.

Officer Called on Him to Stop, and then Tried Shooting, But the Darkey Kept On.

Constable Dave Scott went to a house near Landreth's store, in the eastern part of the city about noon today, looking for a negro man. The negro got wind of the officer and left for the eastern part of the State, going the overland route, with Mr. Scott hot on his trail. He called to the negro to halt, but the coon, possibly being hard of hearing, failed to respond, and the officer thentried the efficacy of shooting, but if he hit the darkey it only caused him to run faster. When near Mr. J. A. Young's place the negro got into a piece of woods and so escaped the officer. His home is in Burlington and the police there are an the lookout for him.

BRITISHERS GOOD GUNNERS.

New World's Record Established by the Men Serving the Guns on the Battleship Terrible.

A new world's record has been established by the gunners of her majesty's ship Terrible, the big battleship of the Asiatic squadron. The percentages of actual hits made in target practice with the six-inch guns on the Terrible was 76.8. The Terrible had two 9.2 and 12 6-inch guns, the shooting from the former being also a brilliant record, 60 per cent. of hits having been made. Four captains of guns made "possibles," two with ten and two with nine rounds. The "misses" would have been "hits" had a ship been substituted for the target.

Exploration Proves That Coast Country of Siberia Is Rugged and in Places Almost Mountainous.

Prof. Markgraf reported the results of his exploration of the Yenessei and Ob valleys at the last meeting of the Geographical society. He used gondolas the greater part of the time and traveled an average of 200 kilometers a day. The population of the adjacent country retired into the interior upon his approach.

Prof. Markgraf declared the most important fact established by the exploration, which was undertaken for the purpose of ascertaining the navigable streams of Siberia, was the utter disproof of the commonly accepted notion that the Siberian plain grows more and more flat, as one approaches the northern ocean. He found the exact contrary to be true, the coast country being quite rugged and in places almost mountainous. There are forests of leafy trees to the edge of the sea and Prof. Markgraf believes 2,000,000 boards could easily be got out by water every summer. There is an abundance of fish, and excellent grazing for cattle. There are no roads, of course. Prof. Markgraf thinks the greatest need of this territory is a railway from Archangelsk to Berezoff. It would have a length of something over 800 miles.
